About Nanjing University Xianlin Campus:

Nanjing University (NJU) has more than one-hundred years of history and is one of the most prestigious universities in China. Its atmospheric science program has consistently ranked the top 3 in China over the past three decades.

Xianlin Campus

Du Xia Library

Fang Zhaozhou Gymnasium

NJU consists of three campus, Gulou, Xianlin and Pukou. The Xianlin Campus is located in the northeast of Nanjing, in the Xianlin University Town. It was opened in September 2009. The Xianlin campus is next to Line 2 of Nanjing Subway (the “Nanjing University Xianlin Campus” Stop). Du Xia library is one of the largest of its kind in China, with a collection of over 4,654 million volumes. Fang Zhaozhou Gymnasium is a comprehensive gymnasium, which can independently undertake major urban competition venue and is called as “fire cube”.

Travel in Nanjing:

Nanjing is one of China’s great ancient capitals and historically and culturally famous cities. It has so many scenic spots deserving visits: Dr. Sun Yat-sen’s Mausoleum, Ming Dynasty Tomb, Zhonghua Gate, Zhanyuan Garden (Taiping Heavenly Kingdom Museum), Presidential Residence, Confucius Temple, Nanjing Museum, etc. When travelling, please bring your passport and residence permit.

Nanjing’s climate is subtropical and humid. Its average annual temperature is 15.3°C, and annual precipitation is 1106.5mm, with the rainy season being mid-June to early July. Spring is one of the best seasons to visit Nanjing, and its average temperature is

Nanjing also has many traditional delicious foods, such as the Duck blood and vermicelli soup (a similar dish is also eaten in Poland, Belarus and Lithuania where it's called czernina), Xiaolongbao and Nanjing Salted Duck. Wish you a good trip in Nanjing!
